

Mrs. White's Kindergarten class has been busy studying the life cycle of a butterfly. While studying the letter Cc, Mrs. White's class enjoyed spinning a cocoon and making a butterfly. They also learned a very BIG word, metamorphosis. The students made a video that allows the viewers to gain a bigger understanding of the life of a butterfly as seen through the eyes of five-year old's.

While working with their project, the students exhibited awesome qualities. They projected a strong sense of self, were passionate and determined and very resourceful in their planning. The students worked hard and were innovative as well. They were effective communicators, solved problems through collaboration, showed great leadership skills, and set and achieved goals. Great job Kindergarten!
