

Mrs. Snure's senior PreCalculus class has been having roller coaster fun. They used piecewise functions to create their ride and then shared their roller coaster with the class who in turn analyzed it's characteristics to determine if it was rideable.

Characteristics they engaged were Technology literacy and using effective communication to solve problems and collaborate. They were able to discern and synthesize information and use technology as a tool to accomplish tasks to be a life-long learner.

